“ We utilise the latest software to design and visualise your bar design in 3D, allowing you to view it from every angle.”

Mark Richards, Designer,
George Thomas Joinery

With a wide choice of materials George Thomas Joinery aims to bring the latest in contemporary bar design to its work, when designing and manufacturing bars for public houses, hotels and restaurants.

Whether a boutique hotel, a craft beer pub or the latest modern discotheque, how your bar looks will be paramount to the atmosphere of the venue.

Taking all of this in mind and your design requirements George Thomas Joinery will design a functional and practical bar, discussing the project with you from start to finish to ensure it works for you. Bars should be as functional for your staff, as they are aesthetically pleasing for your customers.

A wide range of possible features and construction methods allow us to design a bar and back of bar area that is as individual as you, your venue and your budget. Space will be allowed for storage, tills, chiller units and washing stations and of course glass and drink storage or display.

All of our bars are prefabricated in our factory workshop as much as possible, we'll even mock up pillars if they need to be taken into account. This means that once we are on site a bar can often be installed in just a day or two, keeping your business as operational as possible.

FEATURES

LED Lighting

Hidden, feature lighting using LEDs can be incorporated into the design and individually switched or coloured to alter the atmosphere of the bar.

Counter Tops

A choice of hard surfaces and colours, means that the bar can be tailored to your decor in Corian®, marble, granite, wood or even zinc.

Bar Fronts

From traditional wood to gloss colours, metal or decorative backlit feature panels, your bar can be clad in a number of ways.

Back of Bar

Once you have allowed space for chiller cabinets then the upper section can be split into sections for optics, wine racks, glass displays and coffee barista points.

Over bar

Depending upon the ceiling height, suspended or fitted gantries can be added to store glasses or offer overhead lighting. These can be made of metal or wood.

Services

Holes and hidden routes around the bar for piping and cabling can be included at the manufacturing stage.

Accessories

Bars, kick rails and coats hooks can also be added to the front of the bar for function and aesthetics.
